

It is the fundamental right of a human being to experience a peaceful and dignified life based on justice, equality, good environment, love, compassion, happiness that are the required essentials for the survival of human existence. A disregard for the essential human values will undermine our faith in humanity, the blame for which the citizens of this world will have to bear. This world cannot be truly civilized and developed until all of its citizens co-exist in a peaceful environment. My thesis studies one such unending conflict in middle east in the land of Palestine, which threatens world peace if left unresolved. The root cause of the conflict is the illegal occupation of the land of Palestine by Israel.

The topic of my thesis Israeli occupation regime and its implications on women and children. It has been divided into six chapters first one is introduction, second chapter is the impact of the occupation on Palestine through the prism of Human Development Index (Gross National Product ,Education index)third chapter is the continuation of second chapter, here we discuss the impact of the occupation on Palestine through the prism of Human Development Index (life expectancy) , fourth chapter describes the impact on women through HDI conceptualized for women and the fifth chapter describes the impact on children using the tool of Human Development Index conceptualized for them and the last chapter is named conclusion .

Hypothesis

1. Israeli occupation regime has largely impacted the entire gambit of the Palestinian social, educational, healthcare and economic life and the prospects for development.
2. Israeli occupation regime has deeply affected the entire gambit of women and has subjected them to undergo multiple kinds of traumatic sufferings.
3. Israeli occupation Regime has been calamitous and ruinous for children..